CELEBRATING THE BEST IN LIGHTING DESIGN

THE CONCEPT

[d]arc awards

"I just wanted to congratulate you on the [d]arc awards last night! The chilled, cool atmosphere is where awards should be."

David Atkinson, David Atkinson Lighting Design

INTERNATIONAL

Following the incredible success of the [d]arc awards since its inauguration in 2015 and, following the hiatus of the COVID lockdown, we are now raring to go for another spectacular event on 31 March 2022.

The [d]arc awards and [d]arc night broke the mould and, more importantly, the stranglehold of stuffy, black-tie awards dominated by non-sponsor manufacturers.

The [d]arc awards is a unique concept utilising arc and dar magazines' reputation as being the most widely read and respected lighting design publications in the world.

With our database of over 1,600 international lighting design practices (as well as interior designers and architects), and in collaboration with creative consultants Light Collective, we have created an exciting opportunity to get every practice involved in the awards process.

We have formalised a list of categories that is a reality check to the other award ceremonies! We're opening it up so that anyone can enter (lighting designers, light artists, architects, interior designers or manufacturers), but here's the exciting bit - only independent designers will be invited to vote on their favourite projects and products via our specially developed [d]arc awards website.

One designer, one vote makes this the only truly peer-to-peer lighting design awards in the world. It is the Oscars of the lighting design profession!

All the projects, products and the companies who have submitted them will be present on the website so that, over time, the [d]arc awards website becomes a comprehensive online lighting design resource that can be used by designers and clients alike for inspiration.

CREATIVE

Following the voting process the awards ceremony will take place as part of [d]arc night in March.

This will be an atmospheric party at Fabric nightclub, a unique venue in London. Imagine light art, street food, lighting installations... This breaks all the awards rules and is unlike any other awards ceremony to date.

Each sponsor will be given the opportunity to creatively display their product to the audience via a series of light installations from collaborations with high profile lighting design practices. This isn't just a logo on-screen. This is interactive, face-to-face marketing that will engage the audience.

Any independent designer that votes in the [d]arc awards is eligible to attend [d]arc night free of charge (any suppliers who want to attend have to pay £500 per ticket). This means that designers and specifiers - your customers - are not waiting for invites from other manufacturers in order to attend.

It also means there is room for all designers at [d]arc night - not just the senior designers or directors. Junior and intermediate staff - the future senior designers and principals - enjoy the night and enjoy your hospitality and involvement.

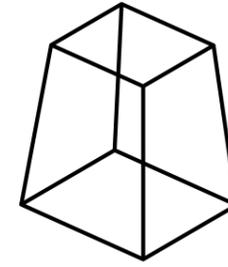

Many architects and interior designers also attend [d]arc night. Last year's attendees included designers from Zaha Hadid, Ben Adams, Foster + Partners and Gensler.

The last event at MC Motors attracted 600 attendees. Unlike other lighting design awards, over 90% of the audience were designers.

INNOVATIVE

Unlike other awards, sponsors have the opportunity to get fully immersed in the event by getting involved in creating an installation with a lighting practice that will be shown at [d]arc night.

Each sponsor chooses three lighting design practices from our list of lighting designer partners that they would like to work with and then we pair the sponsor with one of the practices to create an installation.

This is your chance to work with that lighting design practice that you've always wanted to but you've never been able to get through the door or the practice that specify your products a little but you would like to work with more. Many lighting design practices specify sponsors' products much more after the event once the relationship has been cemented.

Each sponsor is also entitled to 3 free entries (either project or product).

Projects that have been live since 1 January 2021 can be entered by designers and suppliers. Products that were launched from 1 January 2021 can be entered by suppliers (as long as they haven't been submitted in previous [d]arc awards).

Projects and product entries are displayed on the [d]arc awards website ready for the voting process giving you further exposure before [d]arc night.

Only independent designers are eligible to vote for their favourite projects and products making [d]arc awards a true representation of the best in lighting design as voted by the design fraternity.
